Sept. 17, 1926.

Joseph Hellbach. He may not remain there very long but will notify Mr. Watson of any change of address. He says he can be located any time through his brother Dr. Anthony E. Klein of 166 Forty-sixth Street, Corona, Long Island - 'phone Havermeyer 0076.

Julius Sennenberg, who at present is on the same farm with Klein, states that in November 1922 he was working for Sipel. On a Saturday evening in the first part of the month he came into the barnyard about 4 to 4:30 P.M. and he saw the Ford car with the Hoover body and solid tires standing there. He saw Mrs. Gibson talking with Sipel and Willie Easton wrestling and fooling around with Sipel's sons. He knew both of them at the time. He claims, however, that he did not overhear any of the conversation between Sipel and Mrs. Gibson. Mrs. Gibson remained for quite some time, leaving after dark.

Sennenberg will notify Mr. Watson of any change of address and can also be located through relatives at 367 West Side Avenue, Perth Amboy, N.J.

I have located the present whereabouts of Mrs. Strubey. She is working in a roadhouse on the west side of the Lincoln Highway about a half mile beyond the lane leading to the Russell house. She protested that she did not want to get mixed up in the case. I talked with her for some time, telling her that all I wanted to find out was what she knew about the meetings and conversations between Erling and Mrs. Russell. She finally asked me if I had talked with Mrs. Russell. When I told her I had, she requested that I ask Mrs. Russell to come to see her and that I come back after she had seen Mrs. Russell.

I saw Mrs. Russell and she has promised that she will go to see
